“ Dale was a good friend. He had no connection with either of his boys and he was kept from his grandchildren because of his son. Good luck to his sons for how this all turned out. Best of wishes to Becky who was his only sounding board.

“ I would like to add to this obituary. Dale's sons Eric Thomas & Randy Thomas were left out as surviving family members.

Thanks Lori for clarifying that. The obituary was written by his sister Becky who chose to leave out his 2 sons and grandchildren. So sad.

Dale and I were best of friend growing up on the West Side. I remember him raising a raccoon when we were younger and even though it started out as a cute pet it got rather vicious as it got older and Dale had a really hard time letting it go. We use to camp out in the back yard and after we knew my parents were asleep we would go out with a couple of the other neighbor boys and go "TP" ing. We got really good at it too. Dale you will be missed old friend.

Dale and I was cousins and he will be missed. I remember going to their house and having so much fun. And I remember their pet raccoon. Too bad this tribute page was used to be hateful and vindictive cause that is not the way Dale lived. My thoughts are with Becky and Alan and their families.

“ To the family of Dale, I'm sorry of his passing. I went to high school with Dale and I still see his beautiful smile. I was fortunate enough to work with him at Vendall for maybe a year or so. He left that job to pursue owning and operating Helens restaurant. That was his dream. Unfortunately some dreams don't come true. I really know what happened to him after that. I missed his silliness when he left. I would like to share a sweet moment I had with him. This had to be in the early 80s (I think). I had something going on in my life. I really don't remember what it was. I was sitting in the lunchroom at work by myself and suddenly several people started coming in. About that time Dale walked in and dropped his pants and there he stood in a pair of red, white and blue shorts and he just started dancing and he laugh and laugh at me because my mouth was hitting the floor. He did that to cheer me up and I'll never forget him. He was a good hearted person. Sweet dreams Dale. May you be at peace.

“Dale Thomas, It's been a long time since I have heard that name. I went through school with you and you lived on the next block from me. We walked home from Reitz together many times. You were a sweet kind person. So sorry to hear about your passing but now you will have no more pain or sorrow. Fly with the Angels my friend!!

I just learned this evening of Dale's passing. I am saddened and shocked. We became friends when he was working at the antique store on Main Street. He told me some great stories about his resourceful, successful father and his beautiful mother. They entertained me then and now. He's in a better place now, but I'll really miss him. Goodbye, Dale.
