“ I was a friend of Dave's as a kid. We went to Sunday School at Forest Hills Baptist Church. Walt was our teacher at times. Some Sundays I would ride with David and family to their home and we would play away the day. We often went fishing in the many ponds around the area. We would return to church on Sunday evening and I would then be reunited with my parents. I moved to the east side so in the summer time I would ride my bike to Reitz hill and Dave would ride his from his house there to meet me. We would play and do anything that amused us all day and then ride the nine miles back home for supper. I left in 1963 for the US Navy and was gone from Evansville for twelve years. We lost track of each other over this time but I did see David a few times after returning. He was still living at the family home on Hogue Rd. My condolences go out to the family I did not know. I met Joyce and the boys once or twice but you boys were just toddlers at the time. But I do remember that you were already fishermen, as your dad was all of his life. Even though I haven't seen Dave in a long time I do miss him again. I hope all is well with his family.
