“ I spent my first months of nursing as Joan's medicine nurse on evening shift at Pine Haven and I have to say that I never left her room without a smile on my face. She amused herself and staff when she nicknamed me "pill-pusher" and would call it out of her room, grinning from ear-to-ear as I came walking into her room. Since then, I've covered her unit on occasion or visited just to see how she was doing. I always loved her sass and how she always said, "I love you honey" as staff left at the end of the shift. On behalf of Pine Haven nursing I would like to say that she will be missed and she was very much loved by those who took care of her.

“ Aunt Joan was a strong woman, and what I loved about her was her honesty and being willing to tell it like it is. She had a lot of hardship in her life, but found happiness with Uncle Harold, and he loved her. She was a true friend to my mother, and I remember when she would come over to the house and make us laugh! Like all of us, she had her faults, but I choose to remember her for her good qualities, her love of children and animals, and her innate sense of what is right and wrong, and her willingness to speak up about it. We all carry with us the lives of those who go before us, and it is up to us to carry on the best parts of those lives. I will remember Aunt Joan with love and affection and the assurance that she is with Uncle Harold in eternity and in the presence of the Lord. Jenny Long.
