“ I remember, fondly, of getting together for her daughter, Angela's, family recipe of the night. Best chicken-and-rice ever! Her Mom would often join with little Judy and we would break bread together.

Angela's Mom was always boastful of how well her daughter made the food but I would always give them a hard time. I think she endlessly enjoyed that even though she could be stoic - before the end of one of these get-togethers, she would be laughing, smiling, or often rolling her eyes at Connor, Anthony, or my antics. Those are some great memories! What an incredible family filled endlessly with love. So much laughter! I will never forget that. She will be missed and I send warmest regards and condolences to all of you.
