“ Julia has been a dear friend and business partner. But her willingness to share details of her life over 10 years ago changed the trajectory of my life and brought our souls together in an unusual way.

The goal of Julia's life was to write a book on the challenges of her life journey. By connecting her with a good friend of mine who is a professional writer, the three of us have been working on this project for over 2 years. We have done it from different places in the US through Zoom until last Saturday. My friend and I met live to map out the book, showing Julia how it would look through Facetime. We laughed, shared a few stories, and panned the contents of the last 2 years of our work. Little did any of us realize that it would be our last earthly conversation. Two hours after we said goodbye, Julia passed joyously into the arms of her Lord.

Our job now is to work to bring Julia's book to fruition in her honor and memory. It is a beautiful project that we are very serious about.
