“ My cousin Mike was one hell of a wrestler back at manatee Dei one of his most creative moves was when he was pinning an opponent with a top body scissors. He would release the head and put his arms out like he was flying over his opponent, it was called the flying cross. Mike would do this and the crowd would go absolutely nuts. We will miss you, my dear cousin you were quite the entertainer and you were also very loyal to all of your relatives and cousins rest in peace, my friend.

Our sympathies to your family. While I haven't seen Mike in many years, I remember him with a great smile and big hug. And I enjoyed "chatting" with him on Facebook. He left this world too early.
